Uniform Commercial code (UCc)

The ICJ/ICC also recognizes the use of the UCc as Private International Commercial law pertaining to governments, quazi-government agencies, regulators, banks, institutions, corporations as well as private and public individuals.

Since the Geneva Convention of 1930 AD, the use of statutory and legislative law is currently under suspension due to the bankruptcy provisions of said UCc, article 1. Thus, no commercial entity (such as the types listed in the paragraph above) has legal right to enforce any claims against living men and women, since they are operating under UCc bankruptcy provisions only.

The UCc, therefore, is the only body of commercial law that allows bankrupt entities to operate, and for a limited period only. It is in the interest of the ICJ/ICC to setup, provide and execute programs for Redemption – not just for the arrest and imprisonment of government and banking criminals, but also to provided immunity and protection for those that are negatively affected by the latter. Subjects all Statutory Corporations!
